This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE TO FIRST EDITION

This list is in no sense an index of Government publications, but only an enumeration of the volumes which constitute the set of Congressional documents, with the number or numbers contained in each. The contents of the individual volumes are indicated only in the case of such as contain each not more than three separate documents, when the subject to which each document relates is noted. It is thought that this will add much to the value of the lists for purposes of reference. To extend this, however, to other volumes would be inconsistent with the object in view.

The documents of the first fourteen Congresses are not included, chiefly for the reason that the state papers or documents of the Senate and House of Representatives for that period have not been published in such form that a satisfactory list of volumes can be given. All the important documents, however, of these Congresses have been brought together and arranged according to their subject-matter, and published in the American State Papers. Documents are occasionally enumerated which are not found in the volume said to contain them, omitted, it is supposed, chiefly because they were not furnished the Public Printer. To specify such omitted documents has not been practicable.

The regular classification of documents as executive and miscellaneous began with the Thirtieth Congress. The first is supposed to embrace all documents sent to the Senate or House of Representatives by the Executive Departments; the second all other documents, excepting reports of committees, ordered printed by either House. This distinction is, however, not always maintained.

Except as otherwise indicated, the volumes of this series are octavo.

JOHN G. AMES,
Superintendent of Documents.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT, February 1, 1892.

PREFACE TO SECOND EDITION

The first edition of the Checklist of Public Documents proved so acceptable to officers of the Government, librarians, and all who had occasion to consult the printed records of the public service that when it was exhausted the publication of a new edition became a necessity. Mr. Ames had prepared the "copy" for such an edition before my appointment, and he very kindly turned his manuscript over to me. In it he had incorporated a new feature which he deems of much importance, namely, the serial numbers which will be found in the first column of the tables of Congressional documents, pages 9 to 94. These numbers have been used by Mr. Ames for some years, and he recommends their use to librarians generally, on the ground that by affixing them to their volumes of documents they can make references without the necessity of giving titles. The numbers are printed for the convenience of those librarians who choose to adopt them, and are made the basis of the index which is appended to the present publication. They also serve the interesting purpose of showing that the Congressional documents of the sheep-bound series have reached the rather imposing number of 3,344 portly volumes since the numbering of documents began in the Fifteenth Congress.

Mr. Ames's manuscript has been considerably added to since it came into my hands.

Among the more important additions are the tables of the Statutes at Large and the Revised Statutes, of the publications of the Post-Office Department and the Department of Justice, of the Patent Office Official Gazette, and of the various Government catalogues—the latter of which it is believed will be found especially interesting and useful, though it is not claimed that it is complete. The list of explorations and surveys has been much enlarged, and the descriptive list of the Atlas which accompanies the Rebellion Record has been added. The tables of documents for the second and third sessions of the Fifty-third Congress and of the publications of the Eleventh Census have been completed. Most important of all the additions are the Table of Contents and the Index. A marked improvement, suggested and carried out by Mr. Harold Benedict, chief proof reader at the Government Printing Office, is the recasting of the whole list of Congressional documents into tabular form.

The work of compiling the additional lists which appear in the present edition has been done by Miss Adelaide R. Hasse, librarian of this office, assisted by information and suggestions from Mr. John H. Hickcox, cataloguer, also of this office, and a few other document experts. The valuable "Note on the Earlier Congresses" was compiled by Mr. Hickcox.

That the work is a complete checklist of public documents is not by any means asserted; but it comes nearer to being so than any preceding publication, and the collection of material for a new and more complete edition will be at once begun and steadily continued. There is apparently no reason why, with care and effort, a substantially complete list of the public documents of the United States from the foundation of the Government may not be compiled and published a year or two hence.

F. A. CRANDALL,
Superintendent of Documents.

Congressional Documents

First to the Fifty-third Congress, inclusive

Notes on the Earlier Congresses

The Congressional documents from the First to the Fourteenth Congress, inclusive, are contained quite fully in the series of folio volumes known as American State Papers, printed 1833–1861.

This work was published under the provisions of an act of Congress approved March 2, 1831. The act provided that the documents should be selected from the archives of Congress by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives, and printed under their supervision. They are divided into ten classes, according to the subject-matter, each class being arranged chronologically.

A comparison of the contents of these volumes with the imperfect collections of original editions extant reveals the fact that they are reprints of nearly all, if not all, such original editions, and that many more appear in print for the first time in this publication. In the preface to the first volume issued the compilers say: "The great mass of these documents were to be found only in the archives of the two Houses. No complete set of them existed in any other place. * * * In addition to this, many exist only in the manuscript records of the two Houses." In a later communication to Congress, transmitting two volumes, it is stated that: "One of them comprises all the Congressional documents upon Indian affairs [one of the classes] from the beginning of the Government up to the commencement of the Fourteenth Congress."

The series of American State Papers is comprised in 38 folio volumes, and contains publications of great importance and of the highest historical value. Each volume is indexed.

A consecutive series of numbers, as at present, was first applied to the published documents of the House of Representatives at the commencement of the second session of the Thirteenth Congress, in December, 1813. The Senate papers have such number from the first session of the Fourteenth Congress, December, 1815. Since December, 1818, each series of documents has its own index, and of late years a copy of the index has been bound with every volume.

The documents of the first fourteen Congresses contained in the American State Papers count as follows:

	Foreign relations.	Indian affairs.	Finance.	Commerce and navigation.	Military affairs.	Naval affairs.	Post-Office.	Public lands.	Claims.	Miscellaneous.	Total.

Congressional Documents from the Fifteenth to the Fifty-third Congress, inclusive

[The abbreviations used are all such as will be readily understood, except possibly the minus sign, which is used in place of the word "except." An instance is found in this page opposite the serial number 10, where in the "Number of document" column these figures appear: "125-155, — 149-154," meaning that vol. 6 of the House documents of the 1st session of the 15th Congress contains the documents numbered from 125 to 155, except those numbered from 149 to 154. In the next line below, the figures "149-194, —155," mean that vol. 7 contains the documents numbered from 149 to 194, except No. 155.]

Debates and Proceedings of Congress

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS

The record of the proceedings of the Congress of the United States is found in the following series of publications, viz: Annals of Congress, Register of Debates, the Congressional Globe, and the Congressional Record; the first containing that of the First Congress to the Eighteenth Congress, first session, inclusive; the second, that of the Eighteenth Congress, second session, to the Twenty-fifth Congress, first session, inclusive; the third, that of the Twenty-third Congress to the Forty-second Congress, inclusive; the fourth, that of the Forty-third Congress to date. It will be observed that the Register of Debates and the Globe overlap each other, so that the proceedings of the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses and the first session of the Twenty-fifth Congress are embraced in both.

ANNALS OF CONGRESS

As indicated by the title page, these volumes contain a record of "the debates and proceedings of the Congress of the United States, with an Appendix, containing important state papers and public documents and all laws of a public nature, with a copious index, compiled from authentic materials."

The running page title of the first two volumes, which were compiled by Joseph Gales, sr., and published in 1834, is "Gales & Seaton's History of Debates in Congress," and of the other volumes published, 1849 to 1856, "History of Congress."

They contain by no means a full report of Congressional proceedings, but only an abridgment of the more important debates, prepared by the compilers from reliable contemporaneous records. Of the Senate proceedings, until 1794, only the most meager record is found, as the Senate sat with closed doors up to the second session of the Third Congress. The proceedings of the two Houses are arranged separately by sessions, and not by days, as in the Congressional Globe and Record, so that the record of each House is consecutive through the entire session.

These volumes contain not only the record of the proceedings of the Senate and House of Representatives, but in the Appendix incorporated in the last volume of each Congress are found the most important executive and other documents appertaining to, and all laws of a public character passed by, that Congress.

By joint resolution of March 3, 1849, and by act of Congress of September 30, 1850, the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives were authorized to subscribe on behalf of Congress for 2,000 copies of Annals of Congress from the commencement of the First Congress to the second session of the Eighteenth Congress. The Annals were compiled and published by Gales & Seaton.

REGISTER OF DEBATES

The title of these volumes differs but little from that of the Annals of Congress, being "Register of Debates in Congress, comprising the leading debates and incidents of each session, together with an Appendix, containing the most important state papers and public documents to which the session has given birth, to which are added the laws enacted during the session; with a copious index of the whole."

No part of the proceedings of the two Houses of Congress is given except what involves debates or some incident novel or important in its character, and therefore worthy of preservation. The debates are not in all cases literally reported, but their substantial accuracy may be entirely relied upon.

The record of each House is arranged by sessions, as in the Annals, excepting that contained in the first volume, which is by days, as in the Globe and Record.

In the Appendix attached to the last volume of each session are printed the messages of the President, the most important reports from the several departments of the Government and of the leading committees of each House of Congress, and all acts passed during the session.

The Register was compiled and published by Gales & Seaton, the first volume being issued in 1825 and the last in 1837. Provision for the purchase of these volumes for the use of Congress was made from time to time, either in the way of a general appropriation for books for the Library of Congress or of a special appropriation for the Register.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE

This series, up to the close of the Thirty-first Congress, as indicated on the title page, contains "Sketches of the Debates and Proceedings" of the two Houses of Congress. The title is then changed by the omission of the words "sketches of the," implying thereafter a fuller report.

The appendixes, in addition to speeches in full, or but slightly abridged, of Senators and Representatives on important questions, which were withheld for personal revision and not printed in the body of the Globe, contain also, to the close of the Thirty-ninth Congress, messages of the President and reports of Cabinet officers, and from the second session of the Thirty-second Congress, the laws of the United States passed, and to the first session of the Thirty-seventh Congress, a detailed statement of the appropriations made during each session. An index, covering the session to which it belongs, is, with a few omissions, found in each volume excepting the second session of the Forty-second Congress, of which the index is printed in a separate volume. Each of the appendixes has an index of its own.

The Globe was edited and published as follows: By Blair & Rives to the close of the Thirtieth Congress; by John C. Rives to the close of the first session of the Thirty-eighth Congress; by F. & J. Rives to the close of the Thirty-ninth Congress; by F. & J. Rives and George A. Bailey to the close of the series. The work was supplied to Congress under resolutions of either House providing, from time to time, for its purchase for the use of Senators and Representatives. The first volume was published in 1834; the last in 1873.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

By act of March 3, 1873, it was provided that "the debates of Congress shall be printed by the Congressional Printer, under the direction of the Joint Committee on Public Printing on the part of the Senate," and on March 21, 1873, Senator Anthony, then chairman of the Senate Committee on Printing, reported that in compliance with this provision Mr. D. F. Murphy had been appointed Official Reporter of the Senate, and that the debates of Congress would be published at the Government Printing Office in the Congressional Record, which arrangement was approved by the House.

Thus the Globe was superseded by the Record, which, from and including the Forty-third Congress to the present time, has been printed at the Government Printing Office from stenographic reports supplied by the official reporters of the Senate and the House.

All extraneous matter has been excluded from this series, the contents of the several volumes being strictly limited to the proceedings of Congress. The appendixes contain only speeches which, for one reason or another, were not inserted in their proper places in the Record. Except in cases in which the Record for the entire session makes but a single volume, the index for each session is printed in a separate volume, instead of being included in each volume of the series, as is the case with the Globe.

The following is a list of the volumes forming the several series which contain the debates and proceedings of Congress:

Miscellaneous Series of Public Documents

Miscellaneous Public Documents

The following miscellaneous lists do not, in all cases, contain a full statement of the publications of the Departments and offices named. The principal series of documents, however, are given.

AMERICAN ARCHIVES Folio

By act of March 2, 1833, the Secretary of State was authorized to contract with Matthew St. Clair Clarke and Peter Force for the publication of a work entitled "The Documentary History of the American Revolution." This work is known as American Archive, and as originally projected was to comprise six series, consisting of a collection of authentic records, state papers, debates, and letters, and other notices of public affairs, the whole forming a documentary history of the origin and progress of the North American colonies, of the causes and accomplishment of the American Revolution, and of the constitution of government for the United States to the final ratification thereof, covering the period from the discovery and settlement of North America to the ratification of the Constitution of the United States.

Of this work only the fourth and a portion of the fifth series have been published. The fourth contains 6 volumes, relating to the period from the King's message of March 7, 1774, to the declaration of independence by the United States in 1776.

It was intended that the fifth series should cover the period from the declaration of independence in 1776 to the definitive treaty of peace with Great Britain in 1783, but of this series only 3 volumes were compiled, extending from July to December, inclusive, 1776.

The work therefore comprises the following volumes:

Fourth series, v. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6.

Fifth series, v. 1, 2, and 3.

AMERICAN STATE PAPERS Folio

This series of documents was published by Gales & Seaton under the provisions of the act of Congress approved March 2, 1831, of joint resolution of March 2, 1833, and of act of June 12, 1858. Twenty-one volumes were prepared under the provisions of the first-named act and resolution, and 17 volumes under those of the last act. They comprise the most important executive and legislative documents of the United States, selected by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives with great care from the mass of manuscript and printed papers in the offices of the two Houses of Congress and in the several Executive Departments of the Government.

They are divided into ten classes, according to the subject-matter, the documents of each class being arranged chronologically, as follows:

*Of these reports v. 2, with its parts, is the report of the Chief of Engineers; v. 3, the report of the Chief of Ordnance; and, until 1891, v. 4, was that of the Chief Signal Officer. Prior to 1875 the last two are included in v. 1.
†Atlas 4°.

The War Department was organized under the provisions of an act of Congress approved August 7, 1789. Reports were from that date made by the Secretary, which are found among the documents of the Senate or House. The annual report, however, does not form a separate volume until 1849.

The volumes above enumerated contain the reports of the Secretary and of the subordinate officers of the Department, including those of the General or Lieutenant-General of the Army, the Adjutant-General, the Judge-Advocate-General, the Quartermaster-General, the Commissary-General, the Surgeon-General, the Paymaster-General, the Inspector-General, the Board of Commissioners of Soldiers' Homes, the Board of Visitors to the United States Military Academy, the officer in charge of the publication of the Rebellion Records, the Record and Pension Division, the Chief of Engineers, the Chief of Ordnance, and the Chief Signal Officer.

These volumes are embraced in the executive documents of Congress, bound in leather; from 1849 to 1858, in both the Senate and House series; from 1859 to 1862, in the Senate series only; and from 1863 to the present time only in that of the House. They are included also in "Message and Documents," published annually by Congress, and are furthermore issued in a separate edition as departmental and bureau documents.

OFFICIAL RECORDS OF THE UNION AND CONFEDERATE NAVIES.

The publication of these records was authorized by act of Congress, approved July 31, 1894. It is estimated that the series will contain from 20 to 25 volumes, of which only the first has as yet been printed.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

The Department of the Interior was organized under the provisions of an act of Congress approved March 3, 1849, by which act the Patent Office and the Census Office were transferred from the Department of State, the Land Office from the Treasury Department, the Indian Office from the War Department, the Pension Office from the War and Navy Departments, and placed under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. Since that date the Bureau of Education, the United States Geological Survey, the Office of the Commissioner of Railroads, and the Bureau of Labor have been established and attached to the Department, and a number of institutions and offices of the Government, not connected with any of the above-named Bureaus, have also been put under its supervision, all making their annual reports to the Secretary.

These volumes are included in the executive documents of Congress bound in leather; from 1849 to 1858 in both the Senate and House series; from 1859 to 1861 in that of the Senate only; and from 1862 to the present time only in that of the House. They are included also in "Message and Documents," published annually by Congress, and furthermore are issued in a distinctively departmental edition, while of the reports of the several bureaus and offices a bureau edition is also published.

Among the reports contained in the volumes enumerated in the above list are the following, and those marked with an asterisk are also issued in cloth.

Reports of the Secretary of the Interior to the President from 1849.

* The Report on Agriculture.

The Patent Office was originally connected with the Department of State, but was transferred to the Department of the Interior upon its organization in 1849. From 1837 to 1842 it issued brief reports in pamphlet form, but subsequently in volumes, as above enumerated. Prior to 1862, when the Department of Agriculture was established, the report on agriculture was prepared and published by the Commissioner of Patents, and forms a volume, or part of a volume, of his annual reports, the first being that of 1840.

These reports, except vol. 4, 1869; vols. 2 and 3, 1870, and vols. 1, 2, 3, 1871, are included in the set of Congressional documents bound in leather, forming a part of the executive documents of the House of Representatives. Those of 1849 to 1858, inclusive, are included also in the executive documents of the Senate. A separate edition bound in cloth was also published.

In 1872 the Official Gazette, a weekly publication, was substituted in the place of the annual reports, when the publication and distribution of the latter ceased.

An index to the Gazette is issued annually.

The supervision of Indian Affairs was originally committed to the Secretary of War. Under him was appointed first a superintendent of Indian trade, who subsequently became Superintendent of Indian Affairs. By act of Congress approved July 9, 1832, provision was made for the appointment of a Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to be an officer of the War Department.

On the organization, however, of the Department of the Interior in 1849, his office was made one of the bureaus of said Department, with which it has since been connected.

Annual reports of the Commissioner have been issued since 1832. They form a part of the reports of the Secretary of War or of the Secretary of the Interior, and are therefore found among the executive documents of the Senate or House. They are also included in "Message and Documents," and are furthermore issued in separate volumes as bureau publications.

The Bureau of Education was established by act of Congress approved March 2, 1867. It was made an office of the Department of the Interior July 1, 1869. Its publications comprise annual reports, circulars of information, and miscellaneous papers. The first report was issued in 1868, which is found in v. 13, House executive documents, Forty-first Congress, second session. A special report on education in the District of Columbia was published in 1871.

Its regular series of annual reports begins with that of 1870. These are issued as publications of the bureau, are included in the annual report of the Secretary of the Interior and accompanying documents; also in the series known as "Message and Documents," and, furthermore, form a part of the leather-bound set of House executive documents.

The circulars of information are issued only as bureau publications at irregular intervals, and in pamphlet form. The same is true, with few exceptions, of the miscellaneous publications, of which no list is given, as they are not so classified or numbered as to make this possible without giving the title of each.

The Postmaster-General transmits reports from the following: Assistant-Attorney-General, topographer of the Post-Office Department, First, Second, Third, and Fourth Assistant Postmasters-General, General Superintendent of the Railway-Mail Service, Superintendent of the Foreign-Mail Service, and Auditor for the Post-Office Department. The annual reports of the Postmaster-General are included in the House Executive Documents and in the Message and Documents.

The Post-Office was temporarily established by law, under the Constitution, September 22, 1789, and a Postmaster-General was authorized to be appointed, to be subject to the direction of the President of the United States in performing the duties of his office and in forming contracts for the transportation of the mail. His powers and salary, and the compensation to the assistant or clerks and deputies which he should appoint, and the regulations of the Post-Office were to continue as they last were under the resolutions of the late Congress. This act was to continue in force until the end of the second session of the First Congress, and was further continued by the acts of August 4, 1790, and March 3, 1791, to the end of the first session of the Second Congress.

The acts of February 20, 1792, May 8, 1794, March 2, 1799, April 30, 1810, and March 3, 1825, established at the seat of Government of the United States a General Post-Office, established post roads within the United States, and provided for the appointment of a Postmaster-General and assistants, and deputy postmasters at all places where they should be found necessary, and prescribed in detail the duties of all such officers.

By act of June 8, 1872, the Post-Office Department was established and made one of the Executive Departments.

The Department of Agriculture was organized in 1862 and placed under the direction of the Commissioner of Agriculture. Its first report was issued January 1, 1863.

Prior to 1862 the Commissioner of Patents issued the annual report on Agriculture, forming, from 1849 to 1861, a volume by itself. (See list of Patent Office Reports.) Previous to 1849 the Report on Agriculture was incorporated in a single volume of Patent Office Reports, published annually.

Some of these volumes are included in the leather-bound edition of Congressional documents, being found among the executive documents of the Senate or House, or both. All of them have been issued in cloth binding.

The Smithsonian Institution was founded upon the bequest of James Smithson, of London, England, who gave his entire property to the United States to establish an institution for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men. It was incorporated by act of Congress approved August 10, 1846.

The first report was issued in 1847, and an annual report thereafter. The volume, however, containing the report for 1853 embraces the essential portions of preceding reports and is now considered the first of the set.

Many of these volumes are included in the leather-bound edition of Congressional documents and are found among the miscellaneous documents of the House of Representatives. All of them have been issued in cloth binding.

In addition to the annual reports the Institution issues two series of publications, viz: Contributions to Knowledge (4°), and Miscellaneous Collections (8°). Of the first, 28 volumes have been issued; of the second, 37. These, being exclusively publications of the Institution, are not public documents, and are therefore not included in any governmental series.

SPECIAL BULLETINS

No. 1. No. 2. No. 3.

The National Museum is organically connected with the Smithsonian Institution. Its annual reports for 1881, 1882, and 1883 form a part of the reports of the Institution for those years. The reports for subsequent years constitute each a volume by itself.

The Proceedings are issued for the purpose of giving prompt information of discoveries in the Museum. Each article in the series is printed separately for immediate use. The papers issued during the calendar year are bound together and constitute the annual volume.

The series of bulletins was begun in 1875, for the purpose of illustrating the collection of natural history and ethnology in the Museum. They are issued at irregular intervals, in paper.

The special bulletin series is designed for elaborate illustrated monographs, which are issued in quarto form, bound.

Vols. 1 and 2 and vols. 3 and 4 of the Proceedings were reprinted as vols. 19 and 22 of the "Miscellaneous Collection of the Smithsonian Institution," and Nos. 1 to 10, Nos. 11 to 15, and No. 16 of the bulletins were reprinted as vols. 13, 23, and 24 of the Miscellaneous Collection. This method of reprinting was then discontinued.

Of the publications of the National Museum, the annual reports alone are included in the leather-bound series of Congressional documents as miscellaneous documents of the House.

The Superintendent of Public Documents, appointed under act of January 12, 1895, was by that act directed to prepare regularly three indexes of Government publications, viz: A comprehensive index, to be issued at the end of each session of Congress, and to include, in some form to be approved by the Joint Committee on Printing, all the publications of the Government issued during the period covered by that session. The first of these comprehensive indexes, covering the period of the 53d Congress, March 4, 1893, to June 30, 1895, is in preparation, and will be issued about December, 1895. It is being prepared upon dictionary catalogue principles. The second index ordered by Congress is the consolidated index of Congressional documents only, to be issued for each session of Congress. This index will take the place of the one heretofore found included in each volume of the Congressional set. It will be made fuller than previously and bound in a separate volume. The third is the monthly catalogue of public documents, the first number of which, January, 1895, was issued in July, 1895, and is being followed by those for succeeding months. As rapidly as possible they are being brought up to date, and will then be issued regularly as nearly the first day of each month as possible.
